plotting of new routes but the restructuring of entire landscapes as such this project since it seeks to develop a feminist theological frame for meaning impinges on and is impacted by innumerable inter relating questions in consequence the scope of the book is necessarily both broad and interdisciplinary the author j annine jobling uses particular texts and has articulated her own positions in response in this way the embodied practice of thinking in relation is mirrored in the texts produced this has determined the macro structure of the thesis which is based on an analysis of two feminist biblical scholars elisabeth schussler fionenza and phyllis tribble from this analysis jobling identifies two primary principles for interpretation remembrance and destabilization this is a strategy which allows both materialist and post structuralist perspectives to be set into play each of which has vital contributions to make to feminist enterprises the bible is understood as matrix as a set of discourses which are permeable to and intersect with other cultural discourses the task of feminist interpretation is then to reconstitute the heterogenous biblical matrix in feminist horizons a fundamental tenet of the book is that hermeneutics inhabits particular metaphysical constructs therefore the argument extends from an interpretation of the bible to an epistemological framework in which an eschatological hereneutic is recommended to a metaphysical framework which takes eschatology as its structuring principle the author argues that it is eschatology which can provide the resources for an ontological model radically disruptive of a metaphysics of presence and in which it is possible to discern the traces of god from this outermost limit of the author s hermeneutic investigations the text returns to the centre the feminist discursive community and develops a construct that the ekklesia as a feminist deliberative space set oppositionally to structures worldviews and ideologies operates on patriarchal logics the relationship of this imagined community is compared to the christian church and scripture ethics and gendered identity within a logic of equity
